

LOGISTICS INFORMATION SERVICES UPDATE

Volume 3, Issue 1

January / February 2016

WebFLIS 3.0 is Live!

On December 20, 2015, WebFLIS 3.0 went live. For a direct link to WebFLIS, click here.

With the 3.0 release comes some new functionalities. Advanced characteristics queries offer the opportunity to begin a search with Item Name Code (INC) or Item Name Keyword(s) and drill down to specific Master Requirement Codes (MRCs) or Decoded Characteristics data. This search generates a list of National Stock Numbers (NSNs) which match the specified criteria.

The Clear Text Summary View contains translations of NSN data in easy to read paragraph format. This view contains three sections: Item Identification Data; Vendor and Part Number Data; and Shipping and Handling Data.

Weapon system queries provide the ability to initiate a search for NSNs by Weapon System Designator Code (WSDC) or Weapon System Keyword(s). Basic characteristics queries are now available in a separate tab and feature additional search combinations and filters includes Federal Supply Class (FSC). Medical queries are also featured in a separate tab and include additional search fields and options to filter by Medical Federal Supply Group (FSG). Bill of Material (BOM) queries now allows filtering by Service/Agency using a kit and history date. Finally, WebFLIS has increased its limit for multiple NSNs and part numbers to 500 per query.

DLA Campus Initiative Dates Set for Fort Bragg

Fort Bragg, NC is the site for the next DLA Campus Initiative, set for March 21-22, 2016. The DLA Campus Initiative provides the Warfighter with opportunities for training and information sharing to assist with procurement of vital assets needed to support and sustain their missions. The initiative will foster a better understanding of the Agency and increase customer satisfaction.

This initiative will host a two-day forum that will include training seminars from the Primary Level Field Activities. A DLA booth display hall will share information on the Agency's support to each customer base. The goal is to hold one event per quarter at a major military installation for each Service. For an agenda and schedule for the Fort Bragg event, please contact Phil Green, DLA-FORSCOM Operations, here.
